About

The seventh edition of Bookcity Milano is ready to enliven the Milanese cultural scene with four days full dedicated to the art of reading and writing. Small and renowned editors, authors, illustrators, graphic designers, readers, members of calligraphy schools as well as university students and pupils from primary to high school are just some of the participants to this year's edition, featuring over 1000 events spread throughout the city's key locations.

Meetings, seminars, book presentations, lectures, talks and themed performances, as well as a selection of precious books are the result of the tight collaboration between public and private libraries and collections targeted at the discovery and enhancement of the reading culture, as well as deepening the knowledge over special themes.
